

Yorkville Capital Unveils Two New Actively Managed MLP Investment Solutions Strategies Offer Innovative Ways to Invest in U.S. Energy Infrastructure

NEW YORK, (May 1st, 2017) – Yorkville Capital Management, a leading U.S. energy infrastructure investment management firm, announced today the unveiling of two new actively managed investment solutions: the Yorkville MLP High Income Strategy and the Yorkville Energy Infrastructure Strategy. These strategies provide fresh ways for investors to gain exposure to the dynamic and rapidly expanding U.S. energy infrastructure asset class.

The Yorkville MLP High Income Strategy is one of the highest yielding MLP investment opportunities in existence. The strategy seeks to maximize current income by investing primarily in MLPs with high quality income and above average yields. The Yorkville Energy Infrastructure Strategy offers exposure to the asset class by investing in U.S. energy infrastructure companies structured as corporations versus partnerships. The strategy's simplified tax structure makes it an excellent solution for foreign and tax-exempt investors.

“Yorkville’s two new strategies offer investors real choice when investing in US energy infrastructure – equity or high income MLP exposure,” said Darren Schuringa, CEO of Yorkville Capital. “The Energy Infrastructure Strategy is an excellent way for institutions and foreign investors to gain access to the asset class as it addresses partnership tax complexities. The MLP High Income Strategy’s current yield of approximately 9.5% is compelling for investors looking for income.”

The award-winning “Yorkville MLP Core Income Strategy,” one of the first-ever MLP investment strategies to be launched, was recently rebranded as the “Yorkville MLP Growth Opportunities Strategy.”
